The Court of Appeals decides which cases are appealed following trial in the Superior Courts, and has exclusive appellate jurisdiction in all but those cases which state law reserves to the state Supreme Court. An appellate court judge must be a legal scholar who understands and appreciates the social and human significance of the cases before the Court. Our law is an ever-evolving process that must preserve and protect the rights of all citizens. As a former district court judge, as a former deputy prosecuting attorney, and as an attorney in private practice, I have over twenty-three years of direct experience with the legal issues and human conflicts that must be decided by our courts. I have written and lectured extensively on complex legal matters, in the course of continuing legal education process for lawyers and judges alike. I have been active in legal, civic and charitable organizations, in an effort to return to my profession and the community some of the benefits I have enjoyed as an attorney and as a citizen. I will faithfully and impartially perform the duties of a judge of the Court of Appeals.

Selecting judicial candidates often bewilders thoughtful voters. Judges cannot promise voters anything except to be fair and impartial. Choosing the best judicial candidate boils down to weighing qualifications, and picking the kind of person you would like to hear and decide your case if you had to go to court.

My qualifications are based on 25 years of practicing law, including Snohomish County Deputy Prosecuting Attorney, 22 years of service to the City of Everett as City Attorney and special counsel, and ten years in private practice helping individuals and families to solve every kind of legal ill that people bring to their neighborhood lawyer. I have been judge pro tem, arbitrator and mediator. As for being the kind of person to hear and decide your case I have a strong family and community orientation. I have been fortunate enough to be part of a family which includes Joyce, my wife for 35 years, five grown children and eight grandchildren. In my leisure time, I enjoy home projects and the great outdoors of the Pacific Northwest. I hope you decide that Bruce E. Jones is the Court of Appeals, District 2, Division 1, Position 1 candidate the thoughtful voter prefers.

In deciding case, the Court of Appeals creates precedent that helps avoid other disputes by making clear the principles that govern our citizens' relationships. As a Court of Appeals judge, I will work to fairly decide cases on their merits, not on technicalities. I will draw on my experience to write clear and well-reasoned opinions that will help citizens understand their rights and duties under the law. After graduating with honors from the University of Washington School of Law, I served as law clerk to Justice Charles Horowitz of the Washington Supreme Court. As a partner at Edwards, Sieh, Wiggins & Hathaway, my practice concentrates on appeals. I was appointed to Washington Appellate Defender Association's Board of Directors by the Court of Appeals and served as Chair of SKCBA's Judiciary & Court Committee. I am a contributing author to the Washington Appellate Practice Handbook, author of the Appellate Practice chapter of the Washington Lawyers Practice manual and frequently lecture on appellate practice. I live in Edmonds with my husband J. David Smith who has had a solo law practice in Edmonds since 1979. I am committed to Snohomish County and to the fair application of the law to all of our citizens.

The Court of Appeals needs a new voice. Each case has a real and lasting impact on the people involved. "Justice delayed is justice denied." Modern methods of communication must be utilized to keep us from drowning in cases.

I served in the U.S.A.F. during the Korean War, returning to graduate from the U. of W. law school in 1958. Winifred, my partner in marriage for 34 years, and I have resided in South Snohomish County since 1959.

My professional experience includes: 14 years-Prosecuting Attorney; 8 years-District Court Judge; 4 years-law practice; past President County Bar and State Prosecutor's Associations; Chair or Vice-Chair of the Judicial Council committees that drafted the Criminal and Traffic Infraction Codes, the Superior Court Criminal Rules, the Governor's committee on Criminal Insanity Codes; Chair or Vice Chair of two agencies that provide training to courts, police and attorneys, (Criminal Justice Training Center - Washington Criminal Justice Training Commission). Assisted in the formation and direction of regional and County legal service corporations for indigent citizens.

I pledge to provide prompt and careful consideration of each case and to improve the courts administrative functions to limit costs and speed justice.
